MD type scale

Material Design uses a type scale with 15 styles: Display, Headline, Title, Body, and Label. Each style has a default size, weight, and tracking. Text styles can be customized to suit your product's needs, but should remain within the range specified by the baseline scale.

The baseline scale includes 15 styles, ranging from 11 sp to 57 sp. Each style has a default size, line height, and tracking. Text styles can be customized to suit your product's needs, but should remain within the range specified by the baseline scale.

Roboto Regular is the default typeface for Material Design. Roboto Light is a lighter variant of Roboto. Roboto Light is only available for Display and Headline styles.

Type scale tokens

Use the type scale tokens to apply the baseline scale to your product. Tokens are named using the pattern "Role-Size" (for example, "Display-Large"). Each token includes a default typeface, weight, size, line height, and tracking. Text styles can be customized to suit your product's needs, but should remain within the range specified by the baseline scale.
